Comedy of 1920s

The cast of Mr Pim Passes By. Back row from left: Mark Rassie, Stephen Parker, Leanne Watkins, Denise Body and Peter Seagrove. Seated: Anne Potter and Pat Scott.

COMPANY THEATRE'S first production this year is A.A. Milne's Mr Pim Passes By, a comedy set in the 1920s.

It tells the story of George Marden and the events that lead to the shattering of his well-ordered existence: his niece wants to marry a struggling artist, his wife wants to redecorate the house and Mr Pim arrives causing skeletons to fall out of the family closet.

The cast includes Peter Seagrove as George Marden, Pat Scott as his wife Olivia, and Leanne Watkins as his niece.

The play will be staged at St Michaels Hall in Bayswater tonight and from Wednesday April 1 to Saturday April 4. Performances are at 8pm with a matinee at 2.30pm today.

Bookings phone 458-233.
