COMPANY THEATRE PRESENTS

MOTHER GOOSE

A traditional pantomime
by Trudy West
Directed by Peter Segrove

A production of the North Shore Company Theatre and Dramatic Society Inc.

About the story -

Mother Goose lives with all her family in a tumbledown cottage rented from the wicked squire, Sir Jasper Jabberwock. Her son, Jack, comes home one day with a wonderful goose who lays golden eggs. The wicked squire hears of the goose and, with his hefty henchmen, steals the goose, hiding her away.

Peter, a handsome young ploughman, wishes to marry Mother Goose's daughter, Jill. In order to win Mother Goose's reluctant consent to the marriage, he vows to return Ermytrude. He seeks the help of King Gander of Gooseland and eventually, with a little assistance from a good fairy, the princess Ermytrude is restored to her family. All ends very happily, of course, although the wicked Sir Jasper narrowly escapes being served up for dinner, stuffed with sage and onions.

A bit about Company ...

Company Theatre is a dramatic society based at St Michaels Hall in Bayswater. The group has been operating for seven years and has done a variety of drama ranging from Krapp's Last Tape to Blithe Spirit. The group is small and always seeking new members but has still managed to do three major productions a year, plus one or two minor ones. This show, Mother Goose, is one of the largest ever attempted by Company, using a cast of about 26.

Company has been delighted to see many new faces for the pantomime, many of whom have been in recent productions of Ruddigore, Bridie, or Camelot. On stage can also be seen many of Company's well-known faces - from Dear Delinquent, Gaslight, Tomb with a View and, of course, Music Halls.

Anyone interested in joining Company, whether on stage, backstage, front of house or in publicity or some other area, can collect a membership form at the door or phone the secretary (Ros Clews 489.155), the president (Anne Potter 419.0041) or the committee members for membership (Peter Segrove or Ruth Mathieson 418.1769) or write to Company at PO Box 33.311, Takapuna.
